Vanderbilt National Historic Site

Treat yourself to a guided tour of this gilded-age country place during the National Parks Service Centennial year. The site was established as a monument to an era, rather than a tribute to any one person or family. The estate illustrates a way of life modeled on the English country house. One-hour tour includes the first two floors of the house and a portion of the basement. (There are approximately 100 stairs involved). There will be time to explore the grounds, gardens, visitor center and gift shop.
